The Standard Insurance Company*

Event level: HR Managers & Directors, Benefits Professionals and RIMS Managers

Employers are facing a massive—and growing—burden around administering various federal and state mandates for employee leave. It takes significant employer resources and, given the requirements, the best intentions can be undermined by a simple miscommunication. The result: significant penalties against the employer that will take time, money and resources.

You can help protect your company against these liabilities, and see improved productivity in the process. Mike Dunst, a nationally regarded expert in Absence Management, will discuss what absence management is, the major federal and state leave variations, talking points to include a “Best Practices” model, the advantages of outsourcing, and things to consider when reviewing providers.
